

Meadowlands extension to give priority to local residents

Promoters of the Meadowlands extension have indicated their desire to see the new homes occupied by people from the local area. Anyone interested is encouraged to contact Guildford housing department for further details.

Borough planners have confirmed that the extension will be called 'Waterfields'. The developers believe, "This would reflect the stream and the swales landscaping which is being introduced as part of the sustainability measures"

The proposals which have been around for some time and are not directly linked to the current discussions on the Local Plan call for 14 dwellings on land adjacent to Meadowlands. More information on the developments can be found from the Guildford Borough Council Planning Website quoting application references 09/P/00323 and 11/P/01738.
